Court May Declare Local Church Public Nuisance

JUDGE MORTON BRANDS BEHAVIOR OF GREEK CHURCH OFFICERS A DISGRACE TO COMMUNITY

Members of the local Greek community were warned this afternoon by Justice Morton at the jury waived session of the superior court that if they continue to conduct the affairs of their church as they have been in the past, the church will be declared a public nuisance and as such will be closed altogether. He added that the church is being conducted "as a circus and not as a church," and that the behavior of the church officials "is a disgrace to the entire community."

The warning and statement came at the close of the hearing on the contempt petition filed by Apostolos A. Johnson et al. against Constantine Vargapopoulos et al., which started at the opening of the court and which was adjourned shortly after noon to July 2.

The petition for contempt was brought by James E. Markham in behalf of Mr. Johnson, Emanuel G. Saphos, George Paraskos, Anastasios Macgoulias, Constantine Constantine, Basilios Moscovitis, Dionisios Melopoulos and the Greek Orthodox community of Lowell, against Mr. Vargapopoulos, James Kirkilis, Constantine Panagiotopoulos, Constantine Karagounis, Constantine Constantin, Dimitrios Dimitriopoulos, Dracos Georgoulas and the Lowell Trust Co.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS' BATTALIONS MAY BE ALLOWED TO ENTER INTO COMPANY COMPETITION

School department officials are giving considerable thought to the question raised relative to competitive drill for high school girls at annual Field day exercises. The matter has been advanced by a number of persons interested in the school, and arguments have been put forth in substantiation of the claim that a proper incentive should be placed before the members of the girls' battalions as is the custom in connection with competitive drills for the boys.

It would not be surprising to find some definite action forthcoming as the result of the present unofficial deliberations going on, for school officials admit there is much of merit in the suggestion, despite the fact that it never has been the custom to allow the spirit of competition to enter into the work and exhibitions of the girls' organizations.

British Premier Chosen Leader of Conservatives at Party Meeting

Lord Curzon, Who Presided Moved the Election of Mr. Baldwin

LONDON, May 28.—(By the Associated Press) Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin was chosen leader of the conservatives at a party meeting today.

The meeting was attended by the conservative members of both the house of lords and the house of commons who are supporting the government. It was presided over by Lord Curzon, who moved the election of Mr. Baldwin.

Karagounis, Dracos Georgoulas and Constantine Vargapopoulos may be punished for contempt of the decree of the superior court, and that an order may issue to bring them before court to show cause, if any they have, why they should not be punished for contempt accordingly.

The first witness called for the petitioners was Deputy Sheriff Cornelius F. Sullivan, who served the decree upon the officers of the community, but his testimony was dispensed with as E. J. Tierney, counsel for the defendants, admitted the serving of the decree.

Apostolos A. Johnson, the deposed president was next called. He said on May 20 he went to the church and as soon as he reached the inside of the vestibule met Dracos Georgoulas, who grabbed him by the collar and ordered him out. Witness also stated that he received the same treatment from the hands of Constantine Karagounis, and he added that both men pushed him out. "Then," continued witness, "Jack Kirkilis, the secretary of the community came along and Officer Murphy asked him what the trouble was and he replied that Johnson was not wanted there as president. Later I went to the police station and showed the decree to the superintendent. I then returned to the church with Lieut. Connors and the same men and others pushed us so that we were unable to enter the church." Witnesses stated that while the prosecution was going on President Vargapopoulos was inside the church.

Mr. Johnson stated that he was president of the community for about two years up to Dec. 27, 1922, and told what the duties of the president. He said on the Sunday in question Rev. Nicholas Menides was the officiating clergyman at the church, and added he is not a Greek orthodox priest.

MILLIONS ON STRIKE IN RUHR

2,000,000 Miners and Tens of Thousands of Metal Workers Said to Be Out

Every Mine Center in Ruhr Idle as Result of Tactics of Communists

BERLIN, May 28.—(By the Associated Press) Two million miners and tens of thousands of metal workers are now on strike in the Ruhr according to a special dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung. Although these figures are grossly over estimated, it is believed that undoubtedly every mine center in the Ruhr is idle as a result of the tactics of the communists who are visiting the pits and forcibly ejecting the workers.

A riot taken in the Bochum district showed that a majority of the miners favored resumption of work, but communist pickets are stationed at some of the pits with fixed bayonets to prevent the miners from descending.

No further disorders since yesterday are reported, and the casualties for the week-end stand at 7 persons killed and 39 wounded. The food shortage is beginning to be felt in the disturbed area, especially at Gelsenkirchen.

It is said that the French commandant at Bochum has refused to allow the police force or the fire brigade to be augmented.

AUTO DRIVERS IN COURT

Hudson, N. H., Man is Fined $125—Two Other Autoists Fined

Roy A. Rivers, 33, of Hudson, N. H., was fined $125 in the district court this morning for operating an automobile while he was under the influence of liquor. Rivers was arrested on the Pawtucket road-ward about 5:45 o'clock Saturday night by Motorist Officer Walter L. Kivlan, who stated in court that defendant was very drunk when arrested and was hardly able to guide the vehicle in a straight course. "I'm going to do this business," said Judge Knicker as he imposed the heavy fine.

Emile H. Lemery pleaded guilty to driving an automobile without a rear light showing and was fined $10. During the trial of this case, the court commented that he has noticed machines standing in front of residences in Westford and other streets without any kind of light whatever and issued instructions that such violators should be brought into court.

The third case of automobile violation at this morning's session had as principal Roland Dalton, who was arrested in Tisbury yesterday on a charge of driving in a manner to endanger the lives of the public. He was fined $25.

FEW RETURN TO WORK

Brockton Factories Throw Open Gates But Very Few Report for Work

Picketing and Counter Picketing at Various Shops—No Disorder

BROCKTON, May 28.—The big break expected in the ranks of the strikers did not materialize this morning when Brockton factories threw open their gates, following the announcement Saturday that shops would run on full time.

Reports from the manufacturers and strike leaders are conflicting. Manufacturers and foremen of different departments in the factories claim about 20 per cent more of their employees returned for work this morning than were at work last week. Strike leaders make a strong denial of the claim. It is admitted, though, that some of the strikers have gone back to work but not in sufficient numbers to break the strike.

Pickets from all unions were on the job early this morning. Every factory was covered and in some instances, counter picketing was carried on by forces loyal to the Boot & Shoe Workers Union.

At the M. A. Packard Co. plant, where strikers made one of the biggest efforts to prevail on workers not to return to their jobs, Financial Secretary Michael A. Caffrey of the H. & S. W. U. stitchers' local was on the job at 6:30 and his efforts were the cause of several undecided ones returning to work.

There was no violence reported at any factory. The picketing and counter picketing was peaceful.

THE $10,000 ORDER FOR MORE POLICEMEN

Supt. Atkinson has not as yet received official notification of the recent passing over the mayor's veto of the $10,000 appropriation for additional police protection. The superintendent stated this morning that several routes, now uncovered, will be considered as soon as the $10,000 order becomes effective. This will mean that the police department will require more men, to be chosen impartially according to civil service regulations.

At the present time there are 28 supernumeraries in the department. Of this number, eight have not been passed into parole as yet, while the majority of the others have received only temporary assignments. It is from this list of 28 officers that the men for the new routes will be taken and as a vacancy occurs in the supernumerary ranks, the civil service list will be consulted and a new appointment made.

SUPT. ATKINSON ASKS OFFICERS TO PARTICIPATE IN MEMORIAL DAY OBSERVANCE

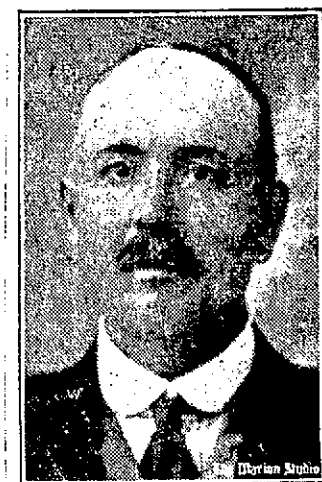

The following request by Supt. Atkinson, concerning the police participation in the Memorial day observance, was read at all roll calls of the department yesterday:

"Wednesday, May 30, is Decoration day, a day set apart to commemorate the dead of all wars. The veterans will meet for religious services; they will march to the different cemeteries to decorate the graves of fallen comrades. In those exercises, various civic bodies will take part. It is but fitting that the police department add its mite to be in keeping with the spirit of the occasion.

"It is my desire that as many officers as are not on duty meet at the police station at 5:15 sharp and march to the South common to escort the procession to Monument square.

"I also request that a platoon of police volunteer their services to escort the American Legion. This platoon will report at the Memorial Auditorium at 9 a.m. march to the common and counter-march to the Auditorium.

"I also request that a platoon of police volunteer to escort the Veterans of Foreign Wars. This platoon will report at 9:30 a.m. and escort the veterans to the East Merrimack street bridge of the Concord river for the exercises there and counter-march to the Auditorium."

SUPT. THOMAS R. ATKINSON

CITY STANDS TO LOSE MORE THAN HALF MILLION IN PERSONAL PROPERTY VALUATION

If national banks of Lowell elect to exercise the option granted them under the new tax legislation measures recently passed by the general court, whereby they may request the state commissioner of corporations and taxation to tax them on an income basis, the city stands to lose more than half a million dollars' worth of personal property valuation.

Last year the valuation of resident bank tax shares, figured in with personal property valuation totals, amounted to $826,426, on which sum there was a tax of $14,075.34. That this amount of valuation and taxes would be lost to the city if the banks exercise the option granted under the new law, is obvious.

Until such a time, however, as the banks apply for taxation on the income basis at the hands of the commissioner of taxation and corporations, the local assessors will proceed to levy the customary tax on resident national bank shares, in compliance with a modification received today from Tax Commissioner Henry F. Lang.

To lose more than half a million dollars in personal property valuation would not be a light blow, but the matter may adjust itself so that such a loss may be avoided.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS BY DISABLED AMERICAN WAR VETERANS OF WORLD WAR

Dr. C. E. Burt of New Bedford was elected commander of the Disabled American War Veterans of the World War at the closing business session of the third state department convention of the organization, held in Liberty hall Saturday afternoon. The new commander, three times wounded in France, was the first man in the medical profession to leave his native city for service overseas. He is a graduate of Boston university and of Harvard medical college.

Patrick L. Kelley of Boston was elected senior vice commander. William R. Morgan of Fall River, junior vice commander, Arthur L. Gault of Worcester, adjutant, Edward H. Sullivan of this city was elected as treasurer, the long officer of last year's state to be chosen again for office.

Considerable uproar was created while the election for commander was in progress. Up to the time for nominations Dr. Burt and J. Edward Murray of Foxbury were prominently mentioned as logical candidates as head of the organization, but shortly before the time for election, it was perceived by the Murray backers, that Dr. Burt had the support of nearly all of the delegates outside of the Boston area, and that his victory was practically assured. Commander Ralph Dodge of the Lowell chapter, nominated Dr. Burt, when suddenly Charles Stone, a student at Lowell textile and a member of the Boston chapter, rose and nominated Mayor John J. Donovan, a member of the organization, for the office of commander. The delegates were immediately in an uproar, and the Lowell delegation felt that it had been rebuffed, as the chapter was supporting Dr. Burt's candidacy. Harry F. O'Sullivan of Lowell, offered the statement that Mayor Donovan was not a candidate for office. Stone, who had made the nomination, was equally positive that the honorable mayor would accept the office. After a heated discussion it was decided to call off hostilities for 30 minutes, to allow the meeting to get into communication with the mayor who was spending his half-holiday boating on the Merrimack. City Solicitor Patrick Reynolds who was at the mayor's office, offered the statement that Mayor Donovan would not be considered for the office, and the election was conceded to Dr. Burt. There was no contest for the remaining offices. The chaplain and liaison officer are appointed by the commander and as yet no selection has been made. The place of the next convention was left to the executive board. It is thought that Fall River will entertain the Disabled Veterans at the fourth convention.

Banquet and Entertainment Harry F. O'Sullivan of the convention committee presided at the banquet and entertainment which brought to a close one of the most picturesque and remarkable gatherings of wounded veterans in the country.

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill. — "I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it and it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides." — Mrs. ELLEN SEVICK, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevick is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

LOWELL CASE IN CAMBRIDGE COURT

The case of Stephen Shanley, 19 of this city, charged with larceny, was scheduled for hearing in the superior court at East Cambridge today. Capt. David Pettie went to Cambridge this morning to represent the government in the case. Shanley is charged with stealing jewelry from an East Merrimack street dealer about two months ago.

Behavior of Greek Church Officers a Disgrace

Cross-examined by Mr. Tierney, Mr. Johnson said he had not been attending church for some time. He said when he entered the church vestibule some of the defendants spoke to him and also stated that the office was present when the pushing occurred, but nothing was done by the officer. He said that in the struggle that took place he was struck and a button was torn from his vest. Patrolman John E. Murphy said he was detailed on duty to the church on May 20, with other officers. He said he was outside of the building and heard some commotion inside. As he entered he saw Karagounis and another man pushing each other behind a table. "If separated them," he continued, "and then heard a commotion outside and later saw Johnson being pushed down the steps." Witness could not state who was doing the pushing. He added that he broke up the gathering and advised Johnson to go to the police station and in the meantime he summoned help from headquarters. Johnson returned and I told him not to go into the church until I returned. Johnson again attempted to enter the church, but the doorway was blocked and he was unable to enter. Johnson was then told by Lieut. Connors to go away and he did.

Lieut. Connors told of meeting Johnson at the church and of reading the court decree. He said he and Johnson attempted to enter the church, but when about half way up the steps they were forced to turn back by a threatening mob. "I warned the people that anyone who molested Johnson would be arrested, but this had no effect, for I, Johnson and another officer were pushed down the steps."

George Distalavlis, Constantine Karagounis, Nicholas Phasoulas and Antonio Mingas corroborated the testimony of previous witnesses relative to the pushing on the church steps, but all admitted that Mr. Vargopoulos was not present. At this point the petitioner's case was brought to a close.

James Kirikits, secretary of the community, was the first witness for the defense. He said he has held the office of secretary for the past two years, and denied being at the church when the trouble started. He said he was in a Market street cafe and later went to the church. He denied laying a hand on Johnson and also of speaking to him. He denied having said that the decree of the court was untruthful and said he desired to comply with the order of the court. He admitted giving a statement to the press to the effect that he did not believe the decree would be effective until June 5 and said he has told some members of the community that the defendants had a right to appeal to the supreme court.

At this point Mr. Markham attempted to bring in the matter of the annual election, which is scheduled to be held next Wednesday, but the court said the election was not the question on trial. He further stated that in his opinion there was nothing to prevent the election from going on. Mr. Markham argued that it could be proven that some of the voters were illegally registered and the judge said this matter could be taken up after the election.

Constantine Varkaropoulos, president of the community, was next called and he denied participating in the trouble. He stated he is no longer president of the community, having relinquished the office when he received the decree of the court. He stated that during the trouble at the church he was attending the service and did not see what took place.

At this point a recess was taken and when court reconvened Justice Morton branded the actions of the community as a disgrace to the entire community and said if such conduct was allowed to continue the church will be ordered closed as a public nuisance.

"LIGHTNIN" OPENS AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

At last, the most popular success in the history of the American stage the comedy, "Lightnin'" which broke all long-run records by staying three years at the Gaiety theatre, New York, almost two years at the Blackstone, Chicago, and seven months at the Elks club, Boston—at last, after five years, "Lightnin'" will be seen here for an engagement of two days, beginning tonight.

In "Lightnin'" Bill Jones, the character from which the comedy takes its title, the authors, Frank Bacon and Winchell Smith, have created a stage portrait that will live in the memory of the theatregoers for years to come. "Lightnin'" is a veteran of the Civil war, a country loafer of the good old American kind, an unconscious braggart and the owner of a large and lasting thirst. He is the sort of man the whole world loves because of his faults; his lying, his misrepresentations, his ability to tell the tallest kind of a story, his shiftlessness, are all reprehensible faults in themselves and in the majority of people, but in Bill Jones they are simply the weaknesses of a human being who wins the love and sympathy of all who know him. Most of us love those friends who have normal human failings and for this reason everyone who sees "Lightnin'" on the stage is going to love him.

Through his faults "Lightnin'" works himself into trouble that culminates in the divorce court, and also through these same faults he works himself out of his troubles and yet there is no manifestation of reform. The final curtain falls on the same "Lightnin'" that the first act introduced.

The title role will be played here by Percy Pollock, who was chosen as the logical successor to the late Frank Bacon, by Mr. Bacon himself before his death. During the Boston run at the Hollis Street theatre, Mr. Pollock's playing of this role was the talk of the town, and he will be surrounded by the same superb cast of players who contributed so notably to the success of "Lightnin'" during the long New York run. This includes Jane Oaker, Jason Roberts, Paul Stanton, Thomas MacLennan, Jessie Pringle, Percy Winter, Sam Reed, E. J. Blunkall, James C. Lane, George Perkins, George Thompson, John Hamilton, May Duray, Allen Mathes, Margaret Campbell, Margaret Mosler, Juyile Brown, Minnie Palmer and others.

LOWELL MAN LOUD IN HIS PRAISES

"Dreco" Relieves Him of Suffering After Other Medicines Fail

Don't Delay, Call Today at Green's Drug Store—He Can Help You

If you haven't health you are going through this world under a handicap that seriously affects your chances in this race to the top of the business world. Health is your most important asset, guard it. Let Dreco help you like it has helped thousands of others. Mr. Albert Tickett, well known in and around Lowell, for years, endured all the suffering that comes from bad stomach, liver and kidneys. He tried many different medicines hoping that he would find relief, but none of them helped him. "My stomach and liver and kidneys were in such a bad condition that I was sickly most of the time. My entire system was run down completely wrecked by my troubles."

"All the medicines I took failed to help me. But their failure only makes Dreco's success the more remarkable. After taking two bottles of this wonderful remedy I felt fine. All my old troubles disappeared. I was a new man, with a stomach that worked fine, a healthy liver and kidneys that did not give me the least bit of bother. It is the only medicine I ever saw or heard of that really helps a person bothered with the troubles that kept me in a state of suffering so long."

Statements like this from persons right here in our home town should do much to convince people of the true merits of Dreco. This remedy does not contain mercury, potash or harmful minerals nor anything that affects the heart, but is composed of the juices of many different herbs, roots and leaves which act on the vital organs.

Call today at Green's Drug Store. Talk with the expert from the Dreco Laboratories. He will gladly tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. Also he will honestly tell you whether or not he thinks Dreco will benefit you. Adv.

TRINITY SUNDAY OBSERVED IN CATHOLIC CHURCHES—MEMORIAL SERVICES AT ST. PETER'S

Yesterday, Trinity Sunday, was fittingly observed in all the Catholic churches of the city. Memorial services held in St. Peter's in the morning, a May procession in St. Michael's, the closing of the men's mission in the Sacred Heart in the afternoon, and administration of first communion to boys and girls being the principal features.

The memorial mass in St. Peter's, sung by Rev. John M. Manion, was largely attended by members of the United Spanish War Veterans and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A.O.H. The church presented an inspiring spectacle with the sprinkling of blue uniformed boys in the congregation. A very eloquent and powerful sermon on the significance of the occasion was delivered by Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan. Rev. Fr. Heffernan's sermon was eloquent and patriotic. He dwelt upon the blessings of freedom enjoyed in this country, the reasons why we should know the flag of this nation and stand ready to die, if need be, in defense of its honor and the glorious freedom it represents.

On Friday, the first Friday of June, masses will be celebrated at 5, 6 and 7 o'clock, while Holy Hour will be held in the evening at 7:30.

The procession of the Corpus Christi, one of the most solemn feasts on the church calendar, will be held in the church next Sunday. The Ladies' sodality will hold its regular meeting Wednesday evening of this week.

The men's mission in the Sacred Heart church was brought to a close yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with a sermon, bestowal of the papal blessing and benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Propagation of the Faith society after Friday evening's services.

The weekly devotions to St. Anthony, which have been largely attended to date, will be continued tomorrow evening.

The Holy Name society will meet this evening at 7:45 o'clock.

In the Immaculate Conception church yesterday, members of the senior branch of the Children of Mary and the junior branch of the Holy Name society received communion in a body at the 8 o'clock mass, celebrated by Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I. The Propagation of the Faith society and the League of the Sacred Heart held meetings after last evening's services.

May devotions will be held in this church on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday evenings, beginning at 7:30 o'clock. Confessions will be heard Thursday afternoon and evening in preparation for First Friday when masses will be celebrated at 6:15, 6:30 and 8 o'clock. At 7:30 in the evening, Holy Hour will be observed.

The annual Corpus Christi procession will be held next Sunday in connection with the evening services at 6:30 o'clock. Both branches of the Children of Mary, the Immaculate Conception sodality and the first communion children will take part.

Rev. Denis A. Sullivan, O.M.I., will sing the solemn high mass at 11 o'clock next Sunday in connection with the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood.

Next Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock, a large class of children will receive their first communion in St. Margaret's church. On Friday night of this week, a whist party in aid of the coming lawn party, will be held in St. Peter's orphanage. A feature of the annual lawn party, to be held in the Casino on June 25, will be a complete dining-room set to be given away to the holder of the lucky ticket.

The early masses in St. Columba's church yesterday were celebrated by Rev. James P. Somers. The pastor, Rev. John J. Powers, was the celebrant of the late mass and delivered a forceful sermon. In the evening the regular devotions to St. Rita were held.

Tanlac Restored Strength More Than She Thought Possible, Declares Mrs. Lavery

"Last spring Tanlac accomplished more for me than I thought possible, and has been the chief factor in keeping me well for almost a year," says Mrs. Rose Lavery of 52 Pleasant St., Pittsburg, Mass.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was weak and nervous, indigestion, and had no appetite. I was worried so dreadfully with gas I could hardly breathe and had awful pains in my left side that just seemed to penetrate to my back. My liver was sluggish. I would become irritable and simply felt miserable."

But after taking four or five bottles of the Tanlac treatment I was well, eating in my normal way, and feeling fine, so I discontinued the medicine."

"This spring I decided it would be better to build myself up and run no risk of getting down sick, so I am taking Tanlac again and adding to the strength and good it did me last year. Tanlac is just grand!"

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 31 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere. Adv.

Confessions will be heard Thursday afternoon and evening in all the French churches of the city in preparation for First Friday. The monthly meeting and communion of the members of the Sacred Heart league of St. John Baptist church will be held next Sunday in St. Louis' church. The members of the Children of Mary sodality will receive communion at the 8 o'clock mass.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KENT'S THEATRE

"I Heard" Edwin Burke's comedy skill, will be the topline at the B. F. Kent theatre this week, beginning today. Paul Decker & Co. will present "A Slight Interruption" which will be presented by Ralph C. Bevan and Beatrice Hunt. Singing and comedy from Michigan is a wit who combines wisdom with his work, and Myrtle Pliske and George Lloyd will give hits from songland. One of the daintiest of vaudeville singers is Nell O'Connell, who puts real kick into her work. The Joe St. Onge trio are daring aerialists, and Wilbert & Dawson are marvels on cycles.

THE STRAND

"Omar the Tentmaker" with Guy Barker featuring is the headline on The Strand bill for the first part of the week. It will be shown today, tomorrow and Wednesday. Little need be said of the story itself. Its past success, both in book form and in its adaptation for the stage, is too well known, while the presence of Mr. Barker in the stellar role is also an incentive for those partial to the latter things.

In entertainment, to see this super-production.

Frank Mayo in "The Flaming Hour" will furnish excellent entertainment as well as a good lesson in every-day life. The remainder of the program is in keeping with the high standard established by the big features.

CROWN THEATRE

Can you learn to like revenge, especially when it is the underlying theme of a motion picture? Still one cannot help so doing after witnessing the William Fox production of "Monte Cristo," a mighty avalanche of dramatic action, based on the world's most famous masterpiece of adventure, romance and thrills by Alexandre Dumas. It is said that the theme of revenge is so sustained and intense that there is not a moment when the mind could be diverted from the actualization of this classic by anything short of an earthquake or fire in the immediate vicinity. "Monte Cristo" will be seen at the Crown theatre Monday and Tuesday.

MERRIMACK THEATRE

Thomas Meighan, the screen's "handsomest star" is playing at the Merrimack Square theatre for the first part of this week in one of the most thrilling productions he has ever turned out. It is called "The Nether World" and tells a human interest story of more than ordinary interest. It is adapted from Rex Beach's noted novel. A Foster Weston comedy and the usual surrounding attractions are also being shown.

ACCIDENT BOARD HEARING

The case of Victoria Bisatillon, who claims she suffered a severe nervous shock as the result of an accident at the Lawrence hosiery, was begun this forenoon at city hall before Mrs. Schofield, industrial accident board representative. The plaintiffs was represented by John D. Farley.

Homeless people wandering in London streets on one night last February numbered 137, as compared with 104 last year.

EXERCISES AT SACRED HEART SCHOOL

The pupils of the first six grades of the Sacred Heart school held their annual exercises in the school hall last night before a large audience of friends and relatives.

For the opening and closing numbers, all the performers were on the stage and the costumes, blending with the decorations of streamers, made a pretty picture. It was the year's biggest event for the children of the low-

ANOTHER THANKFUL WOMAN

Not long ago a woman on Lamson st., East Boston (Mass.), gave out a praiseworthy letter which appeared in newspapers. She mentioned how thankful she was for having been told about a constipation medicine known as Dr. Truett's Elixir.

Now another resident Mrs. Rogers, of 108 Falcon st., East Boston, writes: "I still have Dr. Truett's Elixir, for it surely benefits me; I have a good appetite and eat everything that I want. I could not get along as good as I do if I did not take Dr. Truett's Elixir. It is surely a wonderful medicine. I never felt any better than now since I took the Elixir."

In East Boston and everywhere else there are women men and children who also can be made better in health by using Dr. Truett's Elixir, the True Family Laxative and Worm Expeller. A favorite laxative for over 71 years. 40c-60c-$1.20.-A. J.

FIRE IN WORCESTER

Old Police Headquarters, Used by Veteran Organizations Destroyed

WORCESTER, May 28.—The old police headquarters building on Waldo street was destroyed by fire early today and the Worcester post of the American Legion and its auxiliary, and Colonel E. R. Shumway Camp of Spanish war veterans and its auxiliary, which have been using the place as headquarters, lost everything they had in the way of equipment and records. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The lower part of the building was used by the police department as quarters for the motor cycle corps and the blaze started in this section.

When discovered it was burning briskly and the flames shot up through the woodwork to the upper stories, completely gutting the building.

DEDICATION OF MONUMENT

The dedication of the monument erected in North Chelmsford to the memory of the young men of the village, who made the supreme sacrifice during the world war, will be held on July 4, instead of Memorial day as originally planned. The speakers at the exercises will be Gen. Clarence F. Edwards and Congressman John Jacob Rogers. The postponement of the dedication is due to the fact that these two gentlemen were unable to attend the exercises if held on Memorial day.

FIGHTS FRAUDS

Henry Zweifel, federal attorney of northern Texas, is in charge of prosecution of oil promotion fraud charges now under way at Fort Worth. Zweifel is obtaining wholesale indictments, charging misuse of mails.

EXCELLENT PIANO RECITAL

An exceptionally interesting piano recital was given yesterday afternoon in St. Anne's parish house by three advanced pupils of William C. Heller. The three were the Misses Eleanor Vaillant, Elizabeth Cassidy and Isabelle Warren, and were assisted by Miss Evelyn Anderson, soprano. The piano numbers by the three students were very well played and Miss Anderson pleased the audience with several exceptionally fine solos.

Scout Ax Is Handy Thing To Have Around Camp, Expert Shows

BY L. L. McDONALD
Director, Department of Camping,
National Council Office, Boy
Scouts of America.

A good camper must know how to keep his home in the wilderness clean. He must know how to make the necessary implements and how to use them. Here are some of the things you can make with a scout ax and a jack knife, using materials to be found at almost any spot you may pitch your camp.

To make a camp broom get a smooth stick three feet long with a crotch four inches from the end. Lash a double handful of small, tough twigs about the crotch; if you have no heavy cord, tie the twigs with bark of willow, elm or hickory. A stiff branch bent in a thin oval around the brush end, about 19 inches from the tips and lashed through and through, will hold the brush flat and cover more surface. Trim the tip ends to make an even brush.

A rake is made of a pole with a cross bar that has eight or 10 finger holes, through which short, tough wooden pegs are driven. The cross bar should be reinforced by a stiff branch lashed firmly to the handle and ends of the bar.

You can make a wooden shovel by splitting a piece out of the heart of a good-sized stick of stove wood and trimming it down to the shape desired, the shovel and handle being in one piece. The cutting edge can be hardened by seasoning and by slightly charring the edge in a fire. Make a dish mop or scrub brush by splitting the end of a tough, green piece of witch hazel, hickory, ash, or some other straight-grained wood, an inch and a half in diameter. Then turn back over the splintered and carefully cut shavings trimmed down to leave a smoothly finished handle. The length should be 19 to 24 inches, the brush end being three to five inches. Firmly bind the bent-over ends with a heavy cord or tough bark to hold them in place.

For a wash basin, take a log 10 inches in diameter and two feet long, split it in half and hollow it out by heeling with a hand ax. It won't be handsome, but it will be serviceable. When you want hot water bend a slender stick into the shape of fire tongs, which can be used to lift hot rocks out of the fire and drop them into the wooden wash basin to make the water boil.

PICKPOCKET ARRESTED LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Dracut Lad Tells Police He
Has Been Picking Pockets
Since Christmas

After a lengthy vigilance, Stanley Pickos, 16, of Dracut, was arrested by Capt. Petrie and Officer Owen Conway yesterday afternoon and brought to Lowell, charged with lifting pocket-books from unsuspecting women in the crowded stores and down-town areas of Lowell.

The arrest of the young man followed the complaint of a girl last Saturday that she had been relieved of her pocketbook, containing about $8, while shopping in a Merrimack street store. She said that the thief was accompanied by two co-workers, and that he beat it into Falmouth street after the theft, while the two companions went out a Merrimack street entrance and into a neighboring store. Traffic Officer Quinnan was immediately notified by the victim, and going into the store, the officer caught one of the alleged thieves and took him to headquarters.

Here, under a stiff cross-examination, it was learned that the culprit's name was Pickos and that he lived on the old Lawrence road in Dracut. It was thought that he could be located at the time on the Lakeview avenue show grounds, so taking the prisoner to that locality, Capt. Petrie told him to go and search for the individual wanted and to return on his honor. He was gone for a considerable period of time and when he did not turn up several hours later, the captain became suspicious and decided to go to the Dracut home of the Pickos boy. He went there and found that Pickos was absent.

With Parole Officer F. Fred Gilmore and Officer Owen Conway, a second visit was made to Dracut yesterday and when Pickos saw the officers approaching, he beat it in the direction of a nearby wood. It was several hours before he reappeared and thinking the officers had left the vicinity he started for home only to fall into the clutches of Officer Conway.

At the police station, he admitted that he and his two companions had been indulging in pocket-picking since Christmas and their adventures had netted them approximately $50. He will appear in the district court tomorrow.

WILL REPORT ON FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

The special city council committee appointed to investigate conditions of the Lowell fire alarm system will have a report ready for submission to the council at the meeting on June 5. The committee already has gone into the system in detail and met again at fire headquarters at 3 o'clock this afternoon to visit a number of conditions downtown in connection with the system of wires in the main cable system. The committee hopes to have another and final meeting between now and June 5 and to submit a report on that date.

COMING FROM GREECE
TO WED LOWELL MAN

Miss Victoria Contaki, a very beautiful Greek girl of 18 years, is soon to start for the United States to eventually arrive in Lowell some time in July, where she will become the bride of Mr. Chris Chronis, popular waiter at Marie's restaurant. The engagement of the couple was announced today. Mr. Chronis has secured the necessary papers, affidavits, etc., and forwarded them to Greece. Upon arriving at New York, Mr. Chronis and a party of friends will be on hand to welcome the young bride, and later she will come to this city for the marital ceremony.

House of Correction Sentence for Wladyslaw Dygas
—Other Cases

Wladyslaw Dygas, arrested yesterday by Officer Charles J. Dillon, pleaded guilty to drunkenness in the district court this morning and was sentenced to three months in the house of correction. The latter ran excitedly from the house and notified the officer, with the result that Dygas was pinned under arrest. The probation officer recommended a suspended sentence, but when the wife of the defendant appeared and testified that her husband had treated her abusively of late, the original sentence was allowed to stand.

WILL DISCUSS ELECTION CHAMPIONSHIP DANCE AT
BOARD SALARIES THE KASINO

The most important question of whether the city council will vote to amend the 1923 salary ordinance to allow a raise in salaries of members of election commission to $2000 per year, to compensate them for additional work made obligatory by the passage and operation of the listing board law, will be discussed tonight at a conference of the council committee on salaries and ordinances and legislation and the city solicitor.

When the matter came up before the council it was referred to the law department and these two committees and it is expected the council will be guided by the report submitted at the next meeting.

At present the election commissioners are receiving $1000 per year, with the chairman receiving $1200. While admitting ambiguity in certain sections of the listing board law, the commissioners claim it was the intent of the legislature to have their salaries fixed at $2000. The question was placed before former Solicitor Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan for an opinion and he decided on points of law, that in view of the already existing ordinance establishing salaries of city officials for 1923, no increase legally could be granted the commissioners. The commission now seeks an amendment to the ordinance, which only can be done by affirmative vote of the council.

Baldwin Meets Parliament

Parliament, May 28.—Prime Minister Baldwin meets parliament for the first time as head of the ministry today when the house of commons convenes after the Whitsuntide holiday.

Austen Chamberlain's letter to his constituents in which he says that Mr. Baldwin did not ask his help in forming the ministry, has caused a sensation in the newspapers, which comment on it extensively. It is generally believed that the net result of the letter has deepened the cleavage within the party which it was hoped the change of premiership would remove.

According to the Morning Post, Mr. Chamberlain's letter was drawn up at a meeting of conservatives, Mr. Chamberlain and Winston Churchill.

ALL ARRANGEMENTS FOR OPEN-AIR
MASS ON SOUTH COMMON HAVE BEEN COMPLETED

REV. WILLIAM F. MAHAN, O.M.I.

Practically all details in connection with the Memorial day mass on the South common have been completed. The solemn high mass will be celebrated by Very Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O.M.I., pastor of the Immaculate Conception church, and the preacher will be Rev. James Sherry of Cohasset, a former army chaplain connected with the 102nd field artillery. He was a member of the staff of Col. Charles A. Stevens of Lowell and performed meritorious service with the Yankee division boys. He is an eloquent orator.

Very Rev. William F. Mahan, O.M.I., chaplain of the local post of the American Legion and in charge of the Memorial day ceremonies has issued a proclamation that will appear in the heart of every citizen. It says: "Memorial day is a day of memories, a day when we enkindle the fires of patriotism on the altar of our liberties, and once again renew the loyal vows that these, our noble dead in the years gone by, consecrated with their hearts' blood. For Mahan refers reverently and sympathetically to the veterans of the Old Grand Army of the Republic and urges all good citizens to turn out in honor of our dead."

Memorial Day

By REV. WILLIAM F. MAHAN, O. M. I.
Post Chaplain, Lowell Post, 57, American Legion.

Memorial Day—a day of memories, a day when we recall the glorious aspirations which thrilled men's souls in that heroic time when to love one's country was to lay down one's life; a day filled with that same spirit of freedom, patriotism and devotion which breathed into the common dust of humanity, the sublime inspiration of heroic deeds; a day when we enkindle the fires of patriotism on the altar of our liberties, and once again renew the loyal vows that these, our noble dead in the years gone by, consecrated with their hearts' blood.

Our Memorial Day service should be a love service of prayer and praise and song; that out of the heroic memories of the past we should draw new inspirations of patriotism and find new ardor for the preservation of the free institutions which come to us through the baptism of fire and blood.

On Memorial Day we will see the surviving veterans of the old Grand Army of the Republic, crippled and gray, some with empty sleeves, some stumbling their way on wooden pegs, and this reminds us that in the years gone by these old veterans were boys; boys who left the plow, the loom and the shop to fight the battles of their country. They, too, broke the clasp of loving arms to go; they, too, left good-bye kisses on tiny lips; they, too, had mothers, wives and sweethearts; they, too, turned from home and comfort and peace to follow the flag. God bless them, living and dead! May there be cheers for the living as long as the last survivor blesses the earth, and may there be tears for the dead to the end of time.

Let us then, on Memorial Day, not forget the men who preserved the Union and helped give equal rights and justice to all men. Let us all turn out to honor our dead!

If you're building a new home you can settle today what your fuel bills will be for years to come. The fuel you burn in your home-heating plant contains just so many heat units. The size of your fuel bills will depend upon how many of those heat units your heating system is able to turn into heat and distribute throughout your home.

We can install in your new home a Sunbeam Warm-Air Heating System that will cut your fuel bills to an absolute minimum—a system that will extract the greatest possible heating value from the fuel you burn. Decide NOW to investigate the "fuel-saving" Sunbeam System. Come in today.

with the International organization yesterday, held at Young's hotel, and that the question of higher wages was discussed. "There is no demand for a shortening of hours," she said, and in reply to a query on the wage discussion, she said there was nothing to be given out at the present time. Delegates who accompanied Miss Fuller were: President Helen Moran, Elizabeth Lynch, Gertrude O'Connor and Thomas Dolan. About 75 delegates from the various New England locals were in attendance at the conference.

Lowell operators are in no way affected by the decision of Miss Julia S. O'Connor, president of the New England Council of Telephone Operators, as the local operators' organization is 100 percent for the International. The latter organization comprises all departments of the telephone company and it is not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Referring to the wages Miss Fuller stated that girls in training to be an operator receive weekly $10 for a period of approximately three months, and that the maximum wage was $22, which a girl received at the end of about five and one-half years.

Chief Operator Miss N. F. Snow and Traffic Manager F. A. Wilson of the Lowell exchange declared that to the best of their knowledge the operators in this city were perfectly satisfied with wage and honor conditions. "The Lowell operators have always been fair and loyal in all their dealings with me," asserted the chief operator, "and I doubt very much if there will be a walk out here in this city."

Quered as to the procedure in case the operators decided to walk out, the officials declared that they never crossed bridges until they came to them. "We have had only one strike in the past 45 years and that of a duration of only a week, stated Supl. Leathers, which I believe is proof that the girls are given just treatment in all their problems." Service was practically suspended back in 1919, at the time of the general strike of operators and union men, no attempt being made to recruit the ranks of the telephone girls, asserted the officials.

Any demand in regard to wage increase or shortening of hours would not be submitted to Lowell officials, but would be presented to district headquarters in Boston. Proposals would come from a representation of all locals in the International and not from one exchange, said the officials. "We expect no trouble and are taking no precautions to prepare for any emergency," was the consensus of opinion in the Lowell office.

General Manager George H. Dresser of the New England Telephone and Telegraph company in a communication addressed to the officers of the New England Council of Telephone Operators, returned to grant demands of higher wages and a shortening of the day. It is in answer to this refusal that these operators are taking the strike vote.

New Program on Reparations

on a nation wide real estate mortgage. What promises to become the greatest hypotheticalation of land in the history of economies will eventually encompass every square inch of German soil, which will be made to pay tribute to Germany's former foes for a period of 30 years. The assessment will be on a basis of 50 per cent of the present gold values. Five hundred million gold marks annually will flow into the Reich's reparations melting pot from this source during the first few years. The ultimate yearly total will approximate one million gold marks, the increase depending on the promptness with which metropolitan real estate can be subjected to the mortgaging process.

A beginning will be made with the agricultural lands and the physical properties of the industrialists. The plan for the great mortgage fund is the most important point in the program of the German league of industrialists as submitted by Chancellor Cuno for the perusal of the government. This organization indicates its readiness to assume payment of 40 per cent of the hypothetical sum of $3,000,000,000 gold marks which it believes the government can raise by its assessment on the industrialists property after 10 years on scheduled basis. The remaining 60 per cent would be guaranteed by the banking, commercial, shipping and agrarian interests.

German calculators suggest that 30 annual installments of one and a half billion gold marks each would represent security for a loan of 30,000,000,000, whereas 50 annuities would equal the capital, interest and amortization on 40-40-50 billions.

The industrialists make their assumption of guarantees conditional upon the grant of complete political and economic freedom of action to Germany. They also ask that the women and children, who were slightly late, due to the heavy Sunday traffic, and was speeding in an attempt to reach coming reparations adjustment he made permanent and final.

The wreck occurred just outside the city limits. The train, crowded with women and children, was slightly late, due to the heavy Sunday traffic, and was speeding in an attempt to reach coming reparations adjustment he made permanent and final.

Engineer Killed and Ten Persons Injured, When Train Left Rails

Victim Pinned Beneath Cab, Warned Rescuers of Danger of Explosion

NEW YORK, May 28.—Boys at play were blamed by police today for the wreck last night of a local train on the Putnam division of the New York Central line, in which the engineer, Hugh Kirk, of Yonkers, was killed and ten persons were slightly injured. A timber had been thrown across the tracks, causing the speeding locomotive to careen from the wreck, crash into freight cars on a siding, and turn on its side, breaking up one of its six cars, loaded with timbers, are thought to have obstructed the rails.

Kirk, pinned beneath his cab, warned would-be rescuers away. "I can't live," he told a passenger and golfer who had run up from a nearby golf links. He pointed to the cloud of steam from the locomotive boiler. "That may explode any minute. No one saving your lives. Here, see that my wife gets this," and he tossed his wallet and his watch to the pair as they left.

The wreck occurred just outside the city limits. The train, crowded with women and children, was slightly late, due to the heavy Sunday traffic, and was speeding in an attempt to reach coming reparations adjustment he made permanent and final.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS BY DISABLED AMERICAN WAR VETERANS OF WORLD WAR

Dr. C. E. Burt of New Bedford was elected commander of the Disabled American War Veterans of the World War at the closing business session of the third state department convention of the organization, held in Liberty hall Saturday afternoon. The new commander, three times wounded in France, was the first man in the medical profession to leave his native city for service overseas. He is a graduate of Boston university and of Harvard medical college.

Patrick L. Kelley of Boston was elected senior vice commander. William R. Merkan of Fall River, junior vice commander, Arthur L. Gault of Worcester, adjutant, Edward H. Sullivan of Lowell, secretary, and the long officer of last year's state to be chosen again for office.

Considerable uproar was created while the election for commander was in progress. Up to the time for nominations Dr. Burt and J. Edward Murray of Roxbury, were prominently mentioned as logical candidates. As head of the organization, but shortly before the time for election, it was proposed by the Murray backers, that Dr. Burt had the support of nearly all of the delegates outside of the Boston area, and that his victory was practically assured. Commander Ralph Dodge of the Lowell post had nominated Dr. Burt, when suddenly Charles Stone, a student at Lowell, "Postila" and a member of the Boston chapter, raised and nominated Mayor John J. Donovan, a member of the organization, for the office of commander. The delegates were immediately in an uproar, and the Lowell delegation felt that it had been rebuked, as the chapter was supporting Dr. Burt's candidacy. Harry F. O'Sullivan of Lowell, offered the statement that Mayor Donovan was not a candidate for office. Stone who had made the nomination, was equally positive that the honorable mayor would accept the office. After a heated discussion it was decided to call off hostilities for 30 minutes, to allow the meeting to get into communication with the mayor or who was spending his half-holiday hunting on the Merrimack. City Solicitor Patrick Reynolds who was at the mayor's office, offered the statement that Mayor Donovan would not be considered for the office, and the election was conceded to Dr. Burt. There was no contest for the remaining officers. The chapter and its officers are appointed by the commander and as yet no selection has been made. The place of the next convention was left to the executive board. It is thought that Fall River will entertain the Disabled Veterans at the fourth convention.

EXAMINATIONS AT TEXTILE SCHOOL

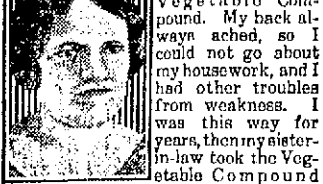

Class sessions at the Textile school were brought to a close last Friday and the undergraduates started on their annual examinations today. These examinations will continue through Friday, when the school year closes. WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it and it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HELEN SEVICK, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevick is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

LOWELL CASE IN CAMBRIDGE COURT

The case of Stephen Shanley, 19 of this city, charged with larceny, was scheduled for hearing in the superior court at East Cambridge today. Capt. David Patrie went to Cambridge this morning to represent the government in the case. Shanley is charged with stealing jewelry from an East Merrimack street dealer about two months ago.

Behavior of Greek Church Officers a Disgrace

Cross-examined by Mr. Tierney, Mr. Johnson said he had not been attending church for some time. He said when he entered the church vestibule some of the defendants spoke to him, and also stated that the officer was present when the pushing occurred, but nothing was done by the officer. He said that in the struggle that took place he was struck and a button was torn from his vest. Patrolman John E. Murphy said he was detailed on duty to the church on May 20, with other officers. He said he was outside of the building and heard some commotion inside. As he entered he saw Karagounis and another man pushing each other behind a table. "I separated them," he continued, "and then heard a commotion outside and later saw Johnson being pushed down the steps." Witness could not state who was doing the pushing. He added that he broke up the gathering and advised Johnson to go to the police station and in the meantime he summoned help from headquarters. "Johnson returned and I told him not to go into the church until I returned," Johnson said. "I then went to the church and found it blocked and he was unable to enter. Johnson was then told by Lieut. Connors to go away and to do so."

Lieut. Connors told of meeting Johnson at the church and of reading the court decree. He said he and Johnson attempted to enter the church, but when about half way up the steps they were forced to turn back by a threatening mob. "I warned the people that anyone who molested Johnson would be arrested, but this had no effect, for J. Johnson and another officer were pushed down the steps."

George Distalavlis, Constantine Karagounis, Nicholas Phasoulas and Antonio Mingas corroborated the testimony of previous witnesses relative to the pushing on the church steps, but all admitted that Mr. Vurkaropoulos was not present. At this point the petitioners' case was brought to a close.

James Kirkilis, secretary of the community, was the first witness for the defense. He said he has held the office of secretary for the past two years, and denied being at the church when the trouble started. He said he was in a Market street cafe and later went to the church. He denied laying a hand on Johnson and also of speaking to him. He denied having said that the decree of the court was untruthful and said he desired to comply with the order of the court. He admitted giving a statement to the press to the effect that he did not believe the decree would be effective until June 5 and said he had told some members of the community that the defendants had a right to appeal to the supreme court.

At this point Mr. Markham attempted to bring in the matter of the annual election, which is scheduled to be held next Wednesday, but the court said the election was not the question on trial. He further stated that in his opinion there was nothing to prevent the election from going on. Mr. Markham argued that it could be proven that some of the voters were illegally registered and the judge said this matter could be taken up after the election.

Constantine Vurgaropoulos, president of the community, was next called and he denied participating in the trouble. He stated he is no longer president of the community, having relinquished the office when he received the decree of the court. He stated that during the trouble at the church he was attending the service and did not see what took place.

At this point a recess was taken and when court reconvened Justice Morton branded the actions of the community as a disgrace to the entire community and said if such conditions are allowed to continue the church will be ordered closed as a public nuisance.

"LIGHTNIN'" OPENS AT OPERA HOUSE TONIGHT

At last, the most popular success in the history of the American stage the comedy, "Lightnin'", which broke all long-run records by staying three years at the Gaiety theatre, New York, almost two years at the Blackstone, Chicago, and seven months at the Hollis Street, Boston—at last, after five years, "Lightnin'" will be seen here for an engagement of two days, beginning tonight.

In "Lightnin'" Bill Jones, the character from which the comedy takes its title, the authors, Frank Bacon and Winchell Smith, have created a stage portrait that will live in the memory of theatregoers for years to come. "Lightnin'" is a veteran of the Civil war, a country loafer of the good old American kind, an unconscionable braggart and the owner of a large and lasting thirst. He is the sort of man the whole world loves because of his faults: his lying, his misrepresentations, his ability to tell the tallest kind of a story, his shiftlessness, are all reprehensible faults in themselves and in the majority of people, but in Bill Jones they are simply the weaknesses of a human being who wins the love and sympathy of all who know him. Most of us love those friends who have normal human failings and for this reason everyone who sees "Lightnin'" will on the stage is going to love him.

Through his faults "Lightnin'" works himself into trouble that culminates in the divorce court, and also through these same faults he works himself out of his troubles and yet there is no manifestation of reform. The final curtain falls on the same "Lightnin'" that the first act introduced.

The title role will be played here by Percy Pollock, who was chosen as the logical successor to the late Frank Bacon, by Mr. Bacon himself before his death. During the Boston run at the Hollis Street theatre, Mr. Pollock's playing of this role was the talk of the town, and he will be surrounded by the same superb cast of players who contributed so notably to the success of "Lightnin'" during the long New York run. This includes Jack Oker, Jason Roberts, Paul Stanton, Thomas MacLarnie, Jessie Pringle, Percy Winter, Sam Reed, E. J. Blunkall, James C. Lane, Grace Perkins, George Thompson, John Hamilton, May Durvae, Allen Mathews, Margaret Campbell, Margaret Mesler, Josie Brown, Minnie Palmer and others.

Don't Delay, Call Today at Green's Drug Store—He Can Help You

If you haven't health you are going through this world under a handicap that seriously affects your chances in this race to the top of the business world. Health is your most important asset, guard it. Let Dreco help you like it has helped thousands of others. Mr. Albert Glickert, well known in and around Lowell, for years, undated all the suffering that comes from bad stomach, liver and kidneys. He tried many different medicines hoping that he would find relief. But none of them helped him.

"My stomach and liver and kidneys were in such a bad condition that I was sickly most of the time. My entire system was run down completely wrecked by my troubles. "All the medicines I took failed to help me. But their failure only makes Dreco's success the more remarkable. After taking two bottles of this wonderful remedy I feel like a new man. I have no more old troubles. I was a new man, with a stomach that worked fine, a healthy liver and kidneys that did not give me the least bit of bother. "It is the only medicine I ever saw or heard of that really helps a person bothered with the troubles that kept me in a state of suffering so long." Statements like this from persons right here in our home town should do much to convince people of the true merits of Dreco. This remedy does not contain mercury, potash or harmful minerals nor anything that affects the heart, but is composed of the juices of many different herbs, roots and leaves which act on the vital organs.

Call today at Green's Drug Store. Talk with the expert from the Dreco Laboratories. He will gladly tell you of the merits of this wonderful remedy. Also he will honestly tell you whether or not he thinks Dreco will benefit you. Adv.

Tanlac Restored Strength More Than She Thought Possible, Declares Mrs. Lavery

"Last spring Tanlac accomplished more for me than I thought possible, and has been the chief factor in keeping me well for almost a year," says Mrs. Rose Lavery, of 22 Pleasant St., Fitchburg, Mass.

"When I began taking Tanlac I was weak and nervous from indigestion, and had no appetite. I was worried and had awful pains in my left side that just seemed to penetrate to my back. My liver was sluggish and I would become nauseated and simply felt miserable."

But after taking four or five bottles of the Tanlac treatment I was well, eating in my normal way, and feeling fine, so I discontinued the medicine.

"This spring I decided it would be better to build myself up and run the risk of getting down sick, so I am taking Tanlac again, and adding to the strength and good it did me last year, Tanlac is just grand."

Tanlac is for sale at all good drug stores. Accept no substitute. Over 35 million bottles sold.

CROWN THEATRE

Can you learn to like revenge, especially when it is the underlying theme of a motion picture? Still one cannot help so doing after witnessing the William Fox production of "Monte Cristo," a mighty avalanche of dramatic action, based on the world's most famous masterpiece of adventure, romance and thrills by Alexandre Dumas.

It is said that the theme of revenge is so sustained and intense that there is not a moment when the mind could be distracted from the picturization of this classic by anything short of an earthquake or fire in the immediate vicinity. "Monte Cristo" will be seen at the Crown theatre Monday and Tuesday.

by Rev. Percy J. Thomas

The debt this country owes but never can pay to those of its citizenry who in three wars have given their lives for the nation born in warfare, perpetuated in conflict and saved only after submission in the horrors of the World conflict, might endure, was impressively and vividly brought to mind at the First Congregational church yesterday afternoon when veterans who answered the call to arms in '61, '65 and 1917 and members of eight organizations composed of men who followed the flag in those years, joined in a posthumous memorial services in honor of comrades who have passed on since last Memorial day. The services not only fittingly honored in the Memorial season, but were of such a character as to rekindle fires of patriotism, to intensify reverence and to reconsecrate individual lives to love of country and love of life. Organizations taking part in the services were B. F. Butler Post 42, James A. Garfield Post 120 and Ladd and Whitney Post 185, G. A. R. Adolphus Ames Camp, United Spanish War Veterans, Lowell Post 87, American Legion, Walker-Rogers Post 662, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lowell Chapter 5, Disabled Veterans of the World War and Lowell Command, British Great War Veterans of America. The orator of the day was Rev. Percy J. Thomas, pastor of the First Congregational church and other speakers were Mayor John J. Donovan and William N. Goodell, the last named giving a splendid reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address. Also Rev. W. A. Kilmer and Rev. J. P. Kennedy, Joseph A. Melloy, commander of Lowell Post 42, American Legion, and Frank Dodge of the Spanish War Veterans took part in the program of service. Music that fitted perfectly with the spirit and significance of the occasion was sung by the church choir. It was sung by Harry Hopkins and there were inspiring congregational singing of "The Star Spangled Banner," "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "America." But overshadowing all else in impressiveness and deep-rooted meaning was the roll call of the dead, during which the names of members of all organizations represented who have died since May 30 of a year ago were read by adjutants, who (representing) each name with a brief service record, stating also age at death and final resting place. This was the very heart beat of the service, the reason for it, in fact, and especially when the names of 71 veterans of the Civil war were read, did the congregation sense the realization that the day soon must follow when there will be no one left, to thus chronicle the life work and service of those who once went out two million strong to keep a nation's flag unbroken. It is good for men's souls to sit with in the holy precincts of a house of worship on a beautiful May Sunday and become lost in thoughts which swirl around the war-torn days when men within our own borders rose up against one another and fought out the issue of freedom that was of the present day and prone to enjoy without the realization that our fathers laid down their lives to give it to us. The services began shortly after a o'clock, with Bugler T. F. McCarthy sounding "assembly" call. Prayer was offered by Rev. W. A. Kilmer, pastor of the Centralville M. E. church, after which the choir led the audience in two verses of "The Star Spangled Banner."

Commander Joseph A. Melloy read Gen. Logan's order of May 6, 1868, insulating the observance of Memorial day and expressing the hope that the custom then begun might be perpetuated for all time.

Major Donovan's Address
The chairman of the meeting, Frank E. Butler of Post 120, G. A. R., then presented Mayor John J. Donovan, who delivered the first address. In part, his honor spoke as follows:
"Once again the lesson of Memorial day is impressed upon us as we pause in the midst of daily activity to offer a prayer for the nation's dead. A prayer, devout and fervent, as we reflect upon the debt of gratitude we owe to the defenders of our national honor and integrity. The Grand Army of the Republic fought for a union of states, one and inseparable. It exalted patriotism and love of country inspired heroic deeds of valor unexampled in the world's history and preserved for us the freedom of a nation—the grandest and best ever devised for the government of mankind."

"Yes, we are grateful today to that grand army of our country's defense. Many fell on battlefields 'neath southern skies. For them the sacrifice was supreme. Others were spared to return to peaceful pursuits of life, and on the plains of peace, displaying that same loyalty and patriotism for American ideals, aided in the reconstruction of our country's greatness."

"For all soon will be sounded the bugle diapason of that grim reaper they faced unflinchingly many, many years ago. The call of time, yes, swift passing time, more potent in its dominion than the most perfected instrument of destruction invented by man. Soon the last survivor will have answered the final roll call, but while one remains alive, a nation's gratitude and loyalty will be forever to that grand army of our country's defense. Never will our country forget the memory of her departed heroes. Death may take them from us but memory will always direct the hand and the heart of the nation to place a wreath of fragrant remembrance on their graves each Memorial day."

"Lowell has performed her share of the glorious achievements which have made the names of the American soldier and sailor honored throughout the world. The soldier of the days of the Civil war has lived to see his son go forth in the world conflict to preserve unshattered the flag of a glorious Republic."

"He has seen that son animated with the same fires of patriotism that possessed his strong and robust body in earlier days. He has seen him carry the flag he loves so well triumphantly into the din of battle, on foreign shores and emerge with laurels as gloriously as he did himself for the principles of truth and justice and that liberty which must not perish from the face of the earth. Yes, all these he has seen and having seen, well may he feel proud to know that the heritage he fought to preserve so courageously in the dark and terrible days of civil strife has been safely transmitted from son to son, and that the peace and security of the nation is safe in the hands of America today."

"Let our prayer to Almighty God today be for the preservation of this nation."

he one, not alone for the souls of our departed heroes, who have gone to their final reward, but a prayer of thanksgiving for the beautiful national flag bestowed upon us as a people. "Let us improve his guidance, that we may continue a nation founded upon truth, justice and equality, a nation where may be found the liberty which is the birthright of every human being born into the world."

After a quartet selection, "Lead Kindly Light," Chairman Butler asked the adjutants of the several organizations taking part in the service to come to the altar platform to read the roll call of the dead.

The Roll of Honor
The adjutants of their representatives who responded were: Post 42, G. A. R., Dudley L. Page; Post 120, G. A. R., George B. Barrett; Post 185, G. A. R., Charles H. Horton; Spanish War Veterans, H. W. Chandler; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Walter Sanborn; Lowell Post 87, American Legion, Senior Vice Commander C. Campbell MacDonald; John Parker carried the roll of Civil war veterans, not associated with any local post, but who either died in Lowell or were buried in a Lowell cemetery during the year. As the list of great War Veterans of America had no deaths to chronicle, its adjutant did not go to the platform.

By organizations the honor rolls were read as follows:
Post 42, G. A. R.: James Riley, private Co. F, 80th Mass. Infantry, died Aug. 2, 1922; P. F. Brady, private Co. C, 2d N. Y. Cavalry, died Dec. 4, 1922.

The church choir, with Bugler T. F. McCarthy playing an obligato, rendered a most impressive response to the reading of the several rolls, with the clear notes of the bugle sounding "Taps" as that part of the service came to an end. "Gods 'Low in the Ground' and 'The Brave Are Resting' were effectively sung by the choir and William N. Goodell gave a splendid reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

The choir and audience joined in the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" after which Frank Dodge of the Spanish War Veterans read a Memorial day message written by Gen. U. S. Grant in 1890.

Inspiring Oration by Pastor
Chairman Butler then presented Rev. Percy J. Thomas to deliver the oration of the day. Punctuated with appropriate anecdotes and filled with historic facts of unusual interest and delivered with a forcefulness that created a profound impression, the address was a masterpiece of thought, preparation and diction.

If the pastor had a topic for his address, it might appropriately have been "The Flag," for it was Old Glory that he honored and wrapped its silken folds around the nation's history from its birth in 1776 to the present day.

After calling attention to the solemn fact that there are thousands of men and women in America today who scoff at the flag and would attempt to have it replaced by one whose outstanding color is red and telling of Germany's hatred for the national emblem in 1917 and the Civil war strife to settle the question of whether the "Stars and Stripes" or the "Stars and Bars" of the Confederacy should prevail, the speaker made deep thrusts at the International Brotherhood, so-called and deplored the fact that the followers of this "lop-sided beller" are more numerous than we like to believe.

"There are three reasons, however, why this glorious flag of ours has every right to be honored," said the pastor. "First, because of its age; second, because of its ideals; and third, because of its cost."

"Let me speak first of honor due the flag because of its age. Do you know that the Stars and Stripes floating above us today is the second oldest national flag in the world, second only in length of life to the flag of Denmark? The Jewish flag also is older but that is a racial, rather than national emblem, so that the flag of America is second in age of the flags of all nations in the world. It was made in 1777, 146 years ago and 12 years before the tri-color of France was born out of the chaos of the French revolution in 1789. Italy did not get her national flag until 1846 and the double eagle of Germany was not born until 1871, on the occasion of the unification of the German states."

"Does not our flag then demand honor and respect from the standpoint of age?" asked the speaker. "The second reason why the flag has every right to be honored is because of its ideals," he continued, "and the protection, religious, business and political it gives us all. It says to young men, 'If you have the inclination, the spirit, the desire and the will to succeed, I will protect you. I will help you and I will let nothing come between you and the very pinnacle of success.' It says to every man and woman citizen of the country, 'Your vote is just as important and just as valuable as the vote of any other person. Either of high or low estate and in Greek, Jew, Roman Catholic or Protestant alike it says 'worship God as you will and in our own churches and as you will and nothing shall prevent or embarrass you.'"

"The third reason why the flag has every right to be honored is because of what it has cost. It cost human lives to make it, it cost the lives of thousands of others in Civil war days to keep it, its red stripes were stained with the blood of men who fought in 1858 and it cost more than 100,000 of the nation's best manhood in 1917 and 1918 to save it. What it has cost in money is inconsequential—six billions in 1861-1865 and 40 billions in 1917 and 1918—it is what it has cost in human lives that matters."

"You veterans of the days of 1893 whose comrades died at El Caney and San Juan and were victims of fever and plague, gloriously intensified the crimson colorings of its stripes; you members of the Legion, you soldiers, you fought 'over there' and kept the flag for us. You saved it and brought it home from across the sea, and you grand old men of the days of '61, you kept our flag for us, kept it for the boys of 1917 to save, kept it flying when another flag was in danger of being hoisted to the mast head, a flag

This Will Ward Off And Break Up Col

Just a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's
Syrup Pepsin removes the congestion

THE two ailments that people generally regard as of the least importance are in reality the cause of most serious illnesses and of the greatest proportion of deaths.

They are constipation and common colds. Many doctors now believe that colds, tonsillitis, a touch of malaria will cause constipation, instead of constipation being the cause of their engue.

The fact remains that you seldom have a cold without constipation, due to general vitality. The only way to avoid colds is to keep up your vitality. You usually catch cold in the winter if you are run down. Therefore in cold weather exercise more; eat more fatty foods; drink four to six glasses of water a day; keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

You are also less liable to colds if your system is free from the intestinal poisons of constipation, so empty the bowels regularly with a plain vegetable laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

After singing "America" the service came to a close with benediction pronounced by Rev. J. P. Kennedy of the Highland Union M. E. church.

Processional and recessional music was played on the magnificent organ of the church by Ella Leona Gale, organist.

ANY FAMILY MAY TRY IT
Thousands of parents are themselves. "Where can I find a worthy laxative that anyone's family can use when constipation is a problem?" I will gladly provide a liberal sample bottle, sufficient for an entire family. Write me where to send. Address: Dr. W. B. Caldwell, Washington St., Monticello, N. Y. Do it now!

At the first sign of a cold, first few warning sneezes, a teaspoonful of Syrup Pepsin, the congestion will be gone in few hours. Don't wait until you have a grip on your head. FIRE IN WORCESTER

Old Police Headquarters, Used by Veteran Organizations Destroyed

WORCESTER, May 28.—The old police headquarters building on Waldo street was destroyed by fire early today and the Worcester post of the American Legion and its auxiliary, and Colonel E. H. Shumway Camp of Spanish war veterans and its auxiliary, which have been using the place as headquarters, lost everything they had in the way of equipment and records. The loss is estimated at $50,000. The lower part of the building was used for the motor cycle corps and the blaze started in this section.

When discovered it was burning briskly and the flames shot up through the woodwork to the upper stories, completely gutting the building.

DEDICATION OF MONUMENT

The dedication of the monument erected in North Chelmsford in the memory of the young men of the village, who made the supreme sacrifice during the world war, will be held on July 4, instead of Memorial day as originally planned. The speakers at the exercises will be Hon. Clarence R. Edwards and Congressman John Jacob Rogers. The postponement of the dedication is due to the fact that these two gentlemen were unable to attend the exercises if held on Memorial day.

FIGHTS FRAUDS

Henry Zweifel, federal attorney of northern Texas, is in charge of prosecution of all promotion fraud charges now under way at Fort Worth. Zweifel is obtaining wholesale indorsements, clearing misuse of mails.

PROHIBITION ON FOREIGN SHIPS

We are beginning to feel the effects of the supreme court decision that foreign ships carrying liquor cannot enter American ports. Great Britain decides that the United States has no authority over liquor on foreign ships except as import cargo. That is the logical conclusion as judged by past usages even in the United States and also by the practice of commercial nations one with another throughout the entire world. It would be an extreme piece of audacity for the United States to attempt to enforce that decision against foreign nations. It would be almost as much of a cause of war as were the complaints and grievances of the American merchant-men for which we went to war with England in 1812. Unfortunately, too, the foreign nations can quote our own ministers and secretaries of state against this decision.

In 1852 the state department, through our minister at Madrid, addressed a note to the Spanish government, stating that "The government of the United States does not question the right of every nation to prescribe the conditions on which the vessels of other nations may be admitted into her ports, but, nevertheless, those conditions ought not to conflict with the recognized usages which regulate the commercial intercourse between civilized nations. Those usages are so well known and so long established that no nation can disregard them without giving just cause for complaint to all other nations whose interests would be affected by their violation."

The Spanish government has already shown its opposition to this new ruling by diverting from the port of New York, the ships of the Spanish Royal Steamship Line which have been plying between that port and Barcelona for the last forty years. They are now to sail from Barcelona to Havana and Vera Cruz. France and Italy also join Great Britain and Spain in their protest against the attempted discrimination. The attitude of Daniel Webster when second secretary of state in 1842 is also cited. On that occasion he wrote to Lord Ashburton as follows:

"A ship, says the publicists, though at anchor in a foreign harbor, preserves its jurisdiction and its laws. It is natural to consider the vessels of a nation as parts of its territory though at sea as the state retains its jurisdiction over them and according to the commonly received custom, this jurisdiction is preserved over the vessels, even in parts of the sea subject to a foreign dominion."

It is time to drop this attempt to enforce prohibition upon foreign vessels within the three-mile limit, so long as they do not sell liquor to American ships, and use it only for their own purposes on board their own ships, and we do not see why the American government has any right to interfere with them. If any existing law provides otherwise, it should be changed as soon as possible.

FOR A NEW RAILROAD STATION

It will be a good thing for Lowell if the Boston and Maine purchases the county jail as a site for a new railroad station. In all probability the property can be purchased at a more reasonable price than any that would be equally serviceable for railroad purposes. The present depot is rather a disgrace to our city, and it is presumed that if a new one were built, it would be up-to-date in every particular, so as to meet all requirements and be among the best in the state outside Boston.

We have heard talk of a new depot for many years, and the old Board of Trade interested itself in the movement as well as in that for the removal of the Middlesex street grade crossing which has been agitated for over thirty years. The company has made various estimates on the cost and at divers times has contemplated a new station, but there was always something to block immediate progress and thus it is today. The Boston and Maine has no money that it can afford to spend upon such projects at the present time and unless the proposed merger with the New York Central is put through, we shall have to plead in vain for a new station.

It is alleged, however, that the merger is already under way and that it will become operative in the near future. Then, if not before, we can look for practical steps to give Lowell a new depot and better railroad service. When a railroad becomes land-locked and debt-locked so that it cannot move on to new things or keep up with the times, then it should pass into the hands of other concerns so as to acquire the means of keeping up with the procession.

The railroads of the country are face to face with new conditions that make new methods and perhaps new men a necessity. The automobile and the motor truck have cut heavily into the service and the business must now be reorganized to meet those conditions successfully by giving superior service.

PRICE OF COAL

Canada's big province, Ontario, has been squandering at the high prices it has to pay for American coal. Ontario decided to buy from its western neighbor, Alberta, which has 200 or more million tons of coal lying on the surface ready for strip mining by steam shovels.

But the Canadian National Railway want $3 a ton freight charges for hauling the coal from Alberta to Ontario. Distance is the barrier. All this freight would be saved if the coal were burned in Alberta to generate electric power and sent over high tension wires to Ontario. That will also be the solution of the coal problem in our country.

But for the high freight rates, coal in this country the price would be several dollars a ton lower. If we can ever have the coal burned and transported in a more satisfactory result will be more satisfactory for those who can use it in that form; but there would still be a considerable number who would have to cling to the old methods of heating.

BIG OBSERVANCE PLANNED

The stage is set for one of the most patriotic observances of Memorial Day in our history. The armed ranks of the Grand Army will be supplemented by the youthful and vigorous veterans of the world war and the men of the Spanish war still in the prime of life. The spirit of patriotism was never more ardent in times of peace than at the present hour. The people of Lowell will honor themselves in paying the highest tribute possible to the patriots who saved the Union and to the heroes who made the supreme sacrifice in any of our wars while defending the flag or the nation's honor.

PAID FOR KNOWING HOW

How much is your time worth a minute? Judge Hatch, referee in the accounting of the Jay Gould estate, will be paid $45 an hour—more than $1 a minute. The one case, lawyers estimate, will bring Judge Hatch $100,000.

It demonstrates that knowledge sometimes can be turned into cash. Like the old lacksmith who rendered this bill: "To opening safe, 15. To

SEEN AND HEARD

Trouble with knocking around the world is it knocks you around.

Footprints on the sands of time are not made by sitting down.

All right for a girl to kiss her mouth while kissing. If she kisses her mouth shut afterward.

A Thought

My advice is to consult the lives of other men, as we would a looking glass, and from thence fetch examples for our own imitation.—Terence.

Couldn't Risk Him

"Certainly," said the minister. "I'll come and see your sick daughter. If she is so very ill, but I don't think you belong to my parish. What church do you attend?" "No, we Methodists," your church?" "Then, you can't send for your pastor?" asked the puzzled minister. "O, we couldn't risk him," explained the caller, "it's scarier fever."

The Danger Signal

A young lady sat at a crowded seaside resort and explained to a circle of admirers: "Yes, it was dear mamma's birthday yesterday. I gave her a crimson parasol with broad white stripes. She is so pleased. And so am I. Mamma is pleased because now I can see her coming a long way off."

Owls With an Owl

An Englishwoman of rather apprehensive disposition took a new maid into the country. The maid was a Cockney and determined to do the country unpleasant. The first morning after her arrival she called her mistress, who asked her how she slept. "Couldn't sleep a wink, mum; didn't you hear the howls?" "Gracious me," said the mistress, "I hope nothing was wrong. Howling outside our house in the middle of the night?" "No, mum; it wasn't anybody howling; it was the howls."

He Trapped Him

An English shopkeeper noticed a tax collector looking closely at his shop. Presently, notebook in hand, the officer entered and began a conversation as follows: "Your name is Jones?" "Yes," Jones answered. "You keep a trap?" "O, do indeed." "Have you a license for it?" came question No. 2. "No," replied Jones. An entry was made in the notebook. Then "How many does the trap hold?" "Five," said Jones. Another entry. "How many wheels?" answered Jones. "Why, what kind of a trap is it?" "A mousetrap," quietly answered Jones.

"The Old Woman of the Road" O, to have a little house!
To own the hearth and stool and all!
The heaped-up sofa before the fire,
The pile of turf again the wall!

To have a clock with weights and chains,
And pendulum swinging up and down!
A clock filled with shining delft,
Speckled with white and blue and brown!

I could be busy all the day,
Cleaning and sweeping hearth and floor,
And fix on their shelf again
My white and blue and speckled store!

I could be quiet there at night,
Beside the fire and by myself,
Sure of a bed and loath to leave
The ticking clock and shining delft.

Och! but I'm weary of mist and dark,
And roads where there's never a house or bush.
And tired I am of bog and road,
And the crying wind and the lonesome hush.

And I am praying to God on high,
And I am praying Him night and day,
For a little house—a house of my own,
Out of the wind's and rain's way.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Boston Globe: Unlucky, religious or secular, accomplish infinitely more when they learn every suggestion of the enemy and let those who believe them know that the work and not the worker occupies first place in every plan.

It was St. Francis who is supposed to have been the inventor of modern charity. It was also St. Francis who asked that the organization of those who worked with him be granted the strange privilege of being poor.

Cause of Strikes

N. Y. World: As the former head of a private detective agency and at present of the secret service, it has long been the practice of William J. Burns to acquire various kinds of information not usually accessible to the public. It must have been on some occasion that he learned of the fact that the secret service of the key that he has been making this statement before the Atlantic city audience: "Every big strike in this country may be laid at the door of soviet influence and propaganda."

This is going far afield to look for the origin of strikes. It must seem rather far fetched for a high official of the federal government to make such a statement. Mr. Burns is trying to explain the fact that industrial disturbances in the United States are charging them up to the account of Russia.

Too Easy to Get Revolvers

N. Y. Herald: Forty-two revolvers and several hundred cartridges were found on a man arrested by Hoboken detectives. He admitted selling the guns to any men along the street who wanted them, and added that he found no difficulty in making his purchases of New York wholesale dealer. On the same day a stolen revolver was found in a shop on the Bowery and killed a man with a revolver "friend gave him."

Revolvers are too easy to get. The less sensible restrictive measures are agreed on in all states and strictly enforced, there will sooner or later be a demand too strong to be resisted for prohibition of the manufacture and sale of revolvers. It is considered well that to be an invasion of their privilege to protect their lives and property, but they will have only themselves to blame when the privilege is denied them.

YOUTHFUL VANDALS

AT FORT HILL PARK

Two youthful vandals, whose names are withheld for the present, were arrested in Fort Hill park by officer William Purdy yesterday afternoon. One of the boys was caught in the act of breaking off a tree limb, while the other was apprehended while attempting to destroy a tree and molesting the animals in the cage by throwing stones at them. The boys will appear in the juvenile court on Friday to answer charges of malicious mischief.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

John Hanley, president of the Lowell Textile union, is one of the greatest enthusiasts of the life insurance system recently inaugurated by the United Textile Workers of America, and which will go into effect in the early part of July. This provides for life insurance policies for textile workers, and only those affiliated with U. W. of A. who are in good standing with their local. There are two policies, one for $250, which costs $3 a year, and the other for $500, the yearly premium of which is $6. These policies also cover total disability and may be taken out by members of the organization irrespective of their age and without medical examination. The life insurance policy is an innovation in the textile field and is sure to become very popular with the operatives.

Officials of the Silex mills in North Chelmsford, including H. F. Gilmore, W. S. Papler and J. F. Hogan, are going in strong for athletics and have organized a baseball team with Agent Gilmore as manager. The team will play a baseball team to promote interest in Silex activities and also provide an excellent brand of entertainment for the workers. Many of the best known ball players of Lowell will wear the Silex uniform. The team will play their first game in form this season and the sponsors of the new movement will do everything in their power to produce a winning team. North Chelmsford has not been represented in athletics for a great many years but with the expected revival of interest in a fast, businesslike, in the hands of the proposed enterprise will receive the patronage so deserving of such an undertaking.

After an absence from this city of several years, John O'Neill returned here during the past week, as luck happened to meet him a few days after his arrival and got talking about his new home down in New Orleans and other various matters. He is in love with New Orleans now it seems, and wouldn't consider coming back to Lowell to live. It's all right for a vacation during the warm months, but he says he sure couldn't stand it in the winter. A rather strange coincidence in regard to his visit was that he was on that 7:30 train that was wrecked on the K & M last week. He wasn't hurt, as luck would have it, so he didn't have anything to kick about. He's a sanitary engineer for the state of Louisiana and he tells me some wonderful stories of the "darkies" and the whites down there. Although he has become quite a bit of the old Yankee himself, which makes him a somewhat unusual person to the person with whom he talks, either in the south or in the north.

Big cities develop queer items in their expense accounts. The costs New York $15,000 a year to remove dead animals from its streets. Horses, cats and dogs mostly. But the list of carcasses hauled away by the New York white-washed last year also included an elephant, a lion, several monkeys and a bear. Dead cats numbered 75,000. Items in Lowell the Lowell cleaning company removes dead horses, but there are very few and the board of health takes the cats and dogs which are also less numerous than formerly.

Presented sticks like glue. The first typewriter had to have a keyboard, so the inventor arranged the keys in a row as on a piano. The first railroad cars were copied from stagecoaches, even had brakes at the sides. Quite naturally, as time it is so difficult to get old ideas and methods out of our heads even when effecting a revolutionary change, the airplanes have copied the bird. That may pass in time. Future flying machines may be like the present 1923 models as the modern Pullman airplane, the early stagecoach type of railroad car, in connection with a "Safety First" campaign held in New York the past week, all factory whistles were blown for a full minute, at a certain interval of the day. Needless to say the message of safety was indelibly imprinted on the inhabitants of the metropolis, who foolishly risk their lives and limbs every day in "jay walking" and other needless and thoughtless practices. "Jay walking," or cutting across streets in the midst of traffic with no regard for automobiles, street cars or other vehicles that are using the right of way is responsible for many accidents.

Millers are stationed at all of the principal intersections for the guidance and safety of pedestrians, young and old, well and infirm, but how many are there in every city in the country who will cut through the thickly traversed business sections, at any point that strikes their fancy, finding that attitude that drivers of machines must safeguard the lives of many lives, Lowell has its jay walkers and careless drivers, and as a result of this combination, there are occasional accidents. A safety campaign such as New York conducted with whistles and sirens could be easily accomplished in Lowell at no expense, and it would be worth the attempt. It saved the life of only one inhabitant.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem
To An Uncertain Lady

Lady, I wish you would cease to torment me,
Flitting about in your devious way;
Little would I need in life to content me
Till you arrived. Now I'm troubled by day,
Troubled both daytime and night when you're present.
Why do you vamp me with all your caprices?
Lady, I hate to seem harsh and unpleasant,
But I implore you to leave me in peace.

Lady, perchance with some hot-blooded chap, you
Might make a deeper impression, but I
Find myself constantly yearning to slap you.
Though you have points which I cannot den;
Graceful you are, and you might seem bewitching,
Save for your brazen flirtatiousness; THAT Gets through my skin, and I find I am itching,
Itching to leave you, my lady, quite flat.

Lady, the siren song which you are singing,
Though it is dulcet enough to the ear,
Doesn't set all of my pulses to ringing;
It is a tune that I don't care to hear.
Though you parade your attractions before me,
I can't permit you to woo me in vein;
Frankly, I do not intend you shall bore me,
Lady Mosquito, you give me a pain.

BOYS AND GIRLS RECEIVE FIRST COMMUNION

Over 200 boys and girls received their First Communion at the half-past eight mass at St. Patrick's church, yesterday. The children occupied the center aisles of the church. The girls were dressed in white with veils, and the boys were navy blue serge suits, with a white ribbon band on the left arm. Rev. Thomas McDonough, their spiritual director, celebrated the mass. The pastor, Rev. John J. McGarry, D.D., delivered the sermon and he addressed the children speaking in part as follows:

"As you know, this is one of the most beautiful of our festivals. This is the occasion upon which the children of the Sunday school receive their first communion. You, children, will remember no doubt, as the older people remember, this beautiful day of your first communion. It is the first time you are called by our dear Lord, to receive Him within your hearts. Our Father, in the life of our Lord upon earth, the pastor continued:

"You recall in the life of our Lord, when He called the little children about Him, that His might speak to them.

"The Apostles, poor and busy men, thought that the children were not of our Lord, but He answered them, 'Suffer the little children to come unto Me.' You must be like those little children. You must always look upon these little ones as examples. Then He blessed the little ones and sent them away. You must remember that our Father is coming to you today to bless you, and to send you away, a friend of His. Our Lord loves the little children so, and He knows them so well, that He foresees that the little ones could not come to Him, so He said, 'I will go to them,' and today He is coming to you under the Sacred Species, and He calls to you, 'Come and receive me, Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity.'"

An address to the faithful followed in which the pastor urged them to keep those little souls free and pure, and above all not to cheat, lie, or give false impressions to those pure hearts. Rev. Dr. McGarry then distributed holy communion to the first recipients, who filed to the altar rail.

During the Communion, Miss Grace Moran rendered the Ave Maria. Hymns were sung by the choir, under the direction of Mr. John J. Kelly. The children, the pastor, with the children, repaired to the rectory at the Academy of Notre Dame, where a breakfast was given by the pastor.

PAGEANT AT CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

The young people of the Calvary Baptist church gave an interesting pageant entitled "From Self to Service" last night in place of the pastor's sermon at the evening service. The pageant was done in costume and depicted the necessity for the church. The only speaking was the reading of Scripture off stage. Each tableau was accompanied by impressive music which added greatly in the presentation of the idea.

Miss Lottie Stewart was in charge of the tableaux and was aided by Misses Florence Lelime, Margaret Myers, Olive Brimmet, Helen Craig, Gerie Foster, Irene Grimsat, Belle Farrington, Alice Chin, Florence Chamberlain and Bertha Phinney. The singers were Misses Gerie Foster and Bertha Heck, Mrs. Earl Stevenson, Edward W. Adams, Earl C. Stevenson and Winfield Aldrich. Edward J. Dilla was the accompanist.

Prior to the pageant, Rev. Henry K. Vye conducted the devotional service and gave a short talk on the part page-ones could not come to Him, so He

Impressive Memorial Exercises at the Congregational Church in Billerica

Three veterans of the Civil war, survivors of the men who fought against a divided country, headed by Commander Marous M. Cowdrey, more than 80 years of age, occupied the seats of honor at the inspiring memorial exercises held in the Congregational church at Billerica yesterday. It was a pathetic sight that the large congregation witnessed as the aged trio, with silvered hair and faltering steps, shoulders thrown back, marched proudly to their seats, to honor their departed comrades.

Dr. Charles E. Hosmer and Coburn S. Smith were the other two Civil war veterans. Delegations were present from the Harold W. Esley post of the American Legion, Billerica post of the American Legion, Ladies of the G. A. R., Spanish War Veterans, Sons of Veterans and the Mitchell school cadets. Harry Dunlap Brown headed the Harold W. Esley delegation, and Harold Tacey the Billerica legionnaires. The order of service was as follows:

Today we thank God for the loyalty, the sacrifice and the service of the old veterans of '61. The Spanish war veterans. The American Legion boys. Rev. George M. Ward, D.D., pastor of the Congregational church, himself a southerner by adoption, gave the sermon. Religion and loyalty to the government and our flag, was the theme of the pastor's remarks to the gathering. He crowded the church to pay homage to departed veterans.

Rev. J. Harold Dale conducted the evening "campfire" exercises in the church. Comrades Cowdrey, Hosmer and Smith made brief speeches and the choir contributed selections. Stories and incidents of the three wars were related by the veterans in an informal manner, after the regular program.

Hiding a rash won't heal it

Attempts to conceal complexion blemishes usually fail, and only serve to draw attention to the defects.

Underneath most unattractive skins is a clear, pleasing complexion—all that is needed is the proper treatment! It is surprising how often a brief use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap will clear away blotches, redness and roughness and give the skin its natural freshness and charm.

ARE CANDIDATES FOR STATE HONORS.

Rather than become a candidate for state honors from the Middlesex county extension service, the first for the making of bread and the second for clothing. These girls will represent this county in competition with other county winners for state honors.

Miss Root, who has just completed four years' work, was county champion last year, having a mark of 99 in sewing at the close of the final exhibit. In addition to her sewing, she has aided the club by making several costumes and has also assisted in writing several plays which have been put on by the Dramatic Club. She has just submitted the most attractive illustrated story ever written by a club member of Middlesex county.

The past year has been very successful and many girls have done two years' work in one in several of the classes. One who made a rather remarkable record was Marion Foster of Tewksbury, who completed the first and second year baking requirements and baked over 17 loaves of bread since December. Prior to entering the class, she had never done any baking.

veterans which has ever been assembled in the building dedicated to the memory of Lowell's war heroes. The delegates and their invited guests, which included men prominent in politics and military life, sat down to an appetizing meal. Everything to delight to the stomach of the veterans who have partaken of the plainest of army huts was spread before the diners in bountiful quantities. Music set the time for the wedding of spoons, knives and forks, and after rest and pop to the occasion.

Following the meal, Chairman Sullivan introduced little Miss Doris McCormack, dainty, diminutive toe dancer. The little Lowell miss, accompanied by the orchestra, tripped through a balloon dance and a Spanish tango. Attractively garbed in fitting costumes the little entertainer won the approval of the veterans with her steps and pirouettes, while on her toes.

First Commander Charles Costello, with the responsibilities of the Disabled American Veterans' leadership off his shoulders for the first time within the year, was presented to the audience. Mr. Costello, turning to His Honor the Mayor, thanked him and the people of the city, for their hospitality and many acts of kindness to the delegates who attended the convention, which, he said, was a most successful affair.

The New Commander

Dr. Burl, the new commander, after thanking the delegates for the honor of making him head of the D.A.V. organization of Massachusetts, said that he would do all in his power to aid the Disabled Veterans, while he headed their organization. Continuing the commander said that the delegates would take back to their native cities the story of the remarkable, historical edifice that the city of Lowell had erected to its war veterans. "No other city," he said, "in the country has done as much for its veterans in my estimation." Co-operation between the D.A.V., the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was the keynote of the new commander's last remarks to the gathering.

Tribute to Mayor John J. Donovan, member of the D.A.V., who served in the 14th Engineers overseas, in spite of the fact that he was well over the age limit, was paid by the master of ceremonies. In presenting the chief officer of the convention city, the mayor, in his typical manner, made a brief response to the ovation that greeted him as he rose. "Any commander who finds himself financially embarrassed while in Lowell, will do me a favor by calling at city hall, where my office is always open," declared the mayor. The work of the Red Cross and the motives of the D.A.V. received much praise from the mayor in his last remarks.

Post 87 Commander
Capt. Joseph A. Molloy, commander of Post 87 of the American Legion, was introduced as a leader of an organization which had done much to aid the Disabled Veterans in Lowell. The Legion commander expressed a wish that the all veteran organizations

DR. C. E. BURL,
State Commander

would think first of the government and secondly of the disabled man. Expressing a wish that he might have the privilege of wearing the silver service button, the speaker expressed a hope that the veterans at the next convention would pass a resolution condemning the solicitation of funds, or begging, as he referred to it. "I say this with no feeling of malice against an organization which only today held a drive in Lowell, but because I believe that if the ex-service men's organizations are sufficiently strong to have passed legislation that will aid the men who thought and were wounded for their country, then there must be something wrong with our country." Fear of another war, within five years, based on the fact that an English peace commission which had recently investigated conditions in 15 countries and had found 16 of them preparing for war, although they were experiencing abject poverty, was expressed by the Legion head. Captain Molloy stated that all ex-service men ought to join the Legion, as with one mighty organization it would be a simple problem to get favorable legislation for the needs of the service men.

Mayor Curley's Representative

John McDonald, representative Mayor Curley of Boston, was unable to be present owing to an accident received that day while reviewing a parade, said that the debt to disabled veterans could never be repaid by our country. He called upon the delegates to select as their leaders men who had their interests at heart, and not selfish gain. "Mistakes have been made in the past which have caused friction between certain veteran organizations," he stated the impressive speaker. "It is not necessary to get college graduates, polished speakers and smooth looking officers to head this organization, which was founded on the battlefields of Europe. Go into your ranks and pick men who will accomplish things. Know what you want and get it." was the parting shot of the mayor's representative.

EDWARD H. SULLIVAN,
State Treasurer

Congressman Rogers

Congressman John Jacob Rogers, newly entered the hall at the close of Mr. McDonald's speech, and the visitor was escorted to the speakers' table. While Mr. Rogers remained in his composure, and acquainted himself with his companions, John Brown, a resident in a pleasant manner several selections. The congressman's trials as a rookie in an officers' training camp brought smiles to the faces of the veterans. Tracing the history of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Mr. Rogers outlined to the veterans legislation that will aid the men who are ing a chance for the good, was the pleasing statement of the speaker. Just before congress adjourned there was a meeting held of men who wore the uniform in the World war, and it was decided to form a committee of ex-service men for the express purpose of handling their problems. Precedent for this committee is found in the associations formed after the Civil and Spanish wars.

The meeting closed following the remarks of Mr. Rogers, and thus ended another of the many conventions which have been numerous since the completion of the Memorial Auditorium.

PICKPOCKET ARRESTED LOWELL DISTRICT COURT

Dracut Lad Tells Police He
Has Been Picking Pockets
Since Christmas

After a lengthy vigilance, Stanley Piekos, 16, of Dracut, was arrested by Capt. Petrie and Officer Owen Conway yesterday afternoon and brought to Lowell, charged with lifting pocket-books from unsuspecting women in the crowded stores and down-town areas of Lowell.

The arrest of the young man followed the complaint of a girl last Saturday that she had been relieved of her pocketbook, containing about $5, while shopping in a Merrimack street store. She said that the thief was accompanied by two co-workers, and that he beat it into Paige street after the theft, while the two companions went out a Merrimack street entrance and into a neighboring store. Traffic Officer Quinnan was immediately notified by the victim, and going into the store, the officer caught one of the alleged thieves and took him to headquarters. Here, under a strict cross-examination, it was learned that the culprit's name was Piekos and that he lived on the old Lawrence road in Dracut. It was thought that he could be located at the time on the Lakeview avenue show grounds, so taking the prisoner to that locality, Capt. Petrie told him to go and search for the individual wanted on his honor. He was gone for a considerable period of time and when he did not turn up several hours later, the captain became suspicious and decided to go to the Dracut home of the Piekos boy. He went there and found that Piekos was absent.

With Parole Officer C. Fred Gilmore and Officer Owen Conway, a special visit was made to Dracut yesterday when Piekos was taken to the officers' apartment, he beat in the direction of a nearby wood. It was several hours before he reappeared and thinking the officers had left the vicinity he started for home only to fall into the clutches of Officer Conway.

WILL REPORT ON FIRE ALARM SYSTEM

The special city council committee appointed to investigate conditions of the Lowell fire alarm system will have a report ready for submission to the council at the meeting on June 5.

The committee already has gone into the system in detail and met again at fire headquarters at 3 o'clock this afternoon to visit a number of conduit containers downtown to ascertain condition of wires in the main cable system. The committee hopes to have another and final meeting between now and June 5 and to submit a report on that date.

COMING FROM GREECE TO WED LOWELL MAN

Miss Victoria Conkaki, a very beautiful Greek girl of 18 years, is soon to start for the United States to eventually arrive in Lowell some time in July, where she will become the bride of Mr. Chris Chronis, popular waiter at Marie's restaurant. The engagement of the couple was announced today. Mr. Chronis has secured the necessary papers, affidavits, etc., and forwarded them to Greece. Upon arriving at New York, Mr. Chronis and a party of friends will be on hand to welcome the young bride, and later she will come to this city for the marital ceremony.

House of Correction Sentence for Wladyslaw Dygas —Other Cases

Wladyslaw Dygas, arrested yesterday by Officer Charles J. Dillon, pleaded guilty to drunkenness in the district court this morning and was sentenced to three months in the house of correction. Dygas is alleged to have gone to the home of a neighbor, and in an intoxicated condition, slapped and kicked a woman and her little girl. The latter ran excitedly from the house and notified the officer, with the result that Dygas was placed under arrest. The probation officer recommended a suspended sentence, but when the wife of the defendant appeared and testified that her husband had treated her abusively of late, the original sentence was allowed to stand.

Patrick J. Carrigan, on a suspended sentence from the state farm, was ordered recommitted to that institution today when he was found guilty of drunkenness, a suspended sentence being revoked.

William J. O'Neill pleaded guilty to drunkenness and the case continued until tomorrow morning to allow for further investigation, as O'Neill is alleged to have caused considerable damage to a neighbor's property in seeking admittance to a house where he was not wanted.

Walter F. O'Brien was sent to the state farm for violation of parole, a finding of guilty being returned.

Dominick Garzka was fined $10 and Antonio Victoravich, $15 for drunkenness. They were arrested in Dracut yesterday afternoon and are old offenders.

A charge of drunkenness against Archie Paquette was continued until tomorrow.

Mary Danowicz pleaded not guilty to illegal keeping, but when she was ordered to recognize in the sum of $300, she changed her plea to guilty and paid a fine of $100.

Katharina Vilnius was fined $150 for illegal keeping, while similar charges against Peter J. Dufour and George A. Lammie were continued until June 11. Charles S. Gero pleaded guilty to a like charge and paid a fine of $100.

George Hartley pleaded not guilty to maliciously injuring property. It was stated that he went to a friend's house on Feb. 21 and when ordered out he put his fist through a door panel. He said he had been working in New Hampshire since the occurrence. He is being held in $300 until tomorrow morning.

WILL DISCUSS ELECTION CHAMPIONSHIP DANCE AT BOARD SALARIES THE KASINO

The most important question of whether the city council will vote to amend the 1923 salary ordinance to allow a raise in salaries of members of election commission to $2000 per year, to compensate them for additional work made obligatory by the passage and operation of the listing board law, will be discussed tonight at a conference of the council committee on salaries and ordinances and legislation and the city solicitor.

When the matter came up before the council it was referred to the law department and these two committees and it is expected the council will be guided by the report submitted at the next meeting.

At present the election commissioners are receiving $1000 per year, with the chairman receiving $1200. While admitting ambiguity in certain sections of the listing board law, the commissioners claim it was the intent of the legislature to have their salaries fixed at $2000. The question was placed before former Solicitor Jeremiah J. O'Sullivan for an opinion and he decided on points of law, that in view of the already existing ordinance establishing salaries of city officials for 1923, no increase legally could be granted the commissioners. The commission now seeks an amendment to the ordinance, which only can be done by affirmative vote of the council.

The Kasino, one of the most popular dance halls in New England, will be the scene of a real championship dancing exhibition in the near future. If the challenge of James Ratho and his partner, to Hene Prew and Louise Fontaine, is accepted. Both couples appeared to advantage in recent exhibitions at the Kasino and won many new friends by their clever executions of difficult steps. Mr. Ratho and his partner need no introduction to Lowell dance enthusiasts. They claim the championship of Merrimack valley and are ready to compete with all comers in the title. The Fontaine duo will no doubt accept the challenge and it is probable that the big event will be staged in the Kasino next Friday evening. The management is preparing to accommodate a monster crowd and the floor is being recommissioned to conform with the championship regulations. General dancing will precede and follow the exhibition.

Memorial Day

By REV. WILLIAM F. MAHAN, O. M. I.

Post Chaplain, Lowell Post, 87, American Legion.

Memorial Day—a day of memories, a day when we recall the glorious aspirations which thrilled men's souls in that heroic time when to love one's country was to lay down one's life; a day filled with that same spirit of freedom, patriotism and devotion which breathed into the common dust of humanity, the sublime inspiration of heroic deeds; a day when we enkindle the fires of patriotism on the altar of our liberties, and once again renew the loyal vows that these, our noble dead in the years gone by, consecrated with their hearts' blood.

Our Memorial Day service should be a love service of prayer and praise and song; that out of the heroic memories of the past we should draw new inspirations of patriotism and find new order for the preservation of the free institutions which come to us through the baptism of fire and blood.

On Memorial Day we will see the surviving veterans of the old Grand Army of the Republic, crippled and gray, some with empty sleeves, some stumping their way on wooden pegs, and this reminds us that in the years gone by these old veterans were boys; boys who left the plow, the loom and the shop to fight the battles of their country. They, too, broke the clasp of loving arms to go; they, too, left good-bye kisses on tiny lips; they, too had mothers, wives and sweethearts; they, too, turned from home and comfort and peace to follow the flag. God bless them, living and dead! May there be cheers for the living as long as the last survivor blesses the earth, and may there be tears for the dead to the end of time.

Let us then, on Memorial Day, not forget the men who preserved the Union and helped give equal rights and justice to all men. Let us all turn out to honor our dead!
